Ike Sweeps Nation by 5 Million Votes

IKE AND MAMIE IN VICTORY—General Dwight D. Eisenhower holds up his fingers in the "V for Victory" sign as he and happy Mrs. Eisenhower sit in their hotel room at New York after Ike's election as the next president of the United States. This happy scene took place just before Ike went down to the grand ballroom of the Commodore Hotel, his campaign headquarters, to face his happy supporters. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Symington, Donnelly, Other Democrats Win In State-wide Races

Eisenhower Leads Stevenson In Close Finish In Missouri; Absentees May Decide How State Will Go Nationally

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stuart Symington, wealthy St. Louis business man who drew national attention as President Truman's troubleshooter, rolled up a solid majority today in capturing the senate seat of Republican Sen. James P. Kem. As the vote tabulation neared completion in the state's two big metropolitan areas, Symington's margin approached the 150,000 mark.

With all but 285 of Missouri's 4,771 precincts reported, Symington had 897,931 votes, Kem 755,288. Of the outstanding precincts, 262 were in outstate counties.

The lead shifted several times in the early counting, when Kem held the edge in outstate areas. But a clear-cut victory for the former air force secretary and RFC cleanup administrator became evident as the big city vote poured in.

Kem waited until today to concede defeat, saying "it was a great fight" and that he had no regrets. He wired Symington "I hope you may be able to do much in the struggle for peace and the welfare of our country."

Kem went to the Senate in 1946 by President Truman.

Symington, making his first bid when he defeated Frank P. Briggs by 61,000, Briggs had been appointed to the seat formerly held for elective office, won the Democratic nomination in August by defeating President Truman's choice for the job, Attorney General J. E. Taylor, by 187,000. During the general election campaign he charged Kem was an isolationist who was endangering the nation by voting against the administration's foreign and domestic policies.

Missouri also elected another former Gov. Phil M. Donnelly of Lebanon to the job he held from 1945-49.

The table of votes by precincts for all of Pettis County will be found on page 11 of today's Democrat.

It must be remembered that the totals and all listed figures are unofficial. Chances of error are always present in the rush of election night tabulation—especially when most of the figures are taken over the telephone and some over rural lines.

Before the official count can be made—on Friday—a check will be made for all precincts and then the absentees will be included.

Smashes All Voting Records In Victory; GOP Wins Congress

Only Hairline Margin to Republicans In House and Senate If They Hold Leads; Solid South No Longer Democratic Dixie

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower smashed all voting records today as he won the presidency in a sprawling landslide that left control of Congress teetering in the balance between Republicans and Democrats.

Americans who liked Ike gave the 62-year-old war hero the greatest vote ever poured out for a presidential candidate as he foreclosed a 20-year Democratic mortgage on the White House and sent Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois down to crushing defeat.

With about 29,000 precincts yet to be tabulated, Eisenhower a ready-made had rolled up 27,976,106 votes—well over the previous record of 27,751,537 set by Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1936 and far out-distancing Wendell L. Willkie's Republican highwater mark of 22,305,196 in 1940.

But despite the Eisenhower sweep through the length and breadth of the land—including a deep ballot wedge into the no-longer solid south—the two major parties fought down to the final count from yesterday's election for what could be only a hairline control of the House and Senate.

Slight edge to GOP

Republicans had a slight edge in the struggle to organize the two houses and thus control their committees. But there was nothing of certainty in the outcome despite the general's more than 5,000,000 popular vote advantage over Stevenson.

The fight was so close that the Senate might wind up Republicans and the House Democratic, or vice versa. Or both houses could go to the Republicans or to the Democrats. Absentee ballots, or an independent vote, might settle the issue in either house.

A minimum of 48 seats, plus a tie-breaking vice presidential vote, is needed for Senate control. In the House, 218 votes are needed. Both parties were close, but neither had the prize.

Stevenson, who conceded defeat in the early morning hours, lost his own state of Illinois, trailed in President Truman's home state of Missouri and seemed likely to have to content himself with the amortized remnants of once-impregnable Dixie.

Electoral Votes: 442 to 89

He won or was leading in only nine Southern states with a meager 89 electoral votes. Eisenhower had clinched or was leading in 39 states, with 442 votes—176 more than the 266 needed for election.

News of Eisenhower's victory was hailed in the Free World's capitals as indicating a continuation of American policy of resisting Communism. The stock market went up.

Democrats started hunting for jobs. And President Truman sped back to Washington from Missouri, possibly to invite the President-elect to sit in on policy shaping conference.

Eisenhower, tired and happy after a strenuous 50,000-mile campaign, planned a 10-day vacation in Augusta, Ga., his first with the Secret Service dogging his heels.

Personal Triumph

For Ike, the avalanche of votes which put him in line as the 33rd man to become president was more of a personal than a party triumph.

Even if his party couldn't keep pace with him in the far corners of the land, the 62-year-old warrior-statesman had a personal mandate from the voters matching in volume that given Herbert Hoover, his last Republican predecessor in 1928, and rivaling some of those for Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The informal Republican-Southern Democratic coalition which has dictated Congressional action on legislation was strengthened by the Eisenhower victory and the general could expect from it support for the program he laid out in his campaign "crusade."

House control apparently hinged on the outcome in a half dozen or more districts created by reapportionment of the voting strength with only a vote or two likely to separate total Republican and Democratic strength.

The Senate contest was just as tight. Republicans had gained a net of one seat and needed to win four of nine undecided races to seat 48 Republicans in addition to Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, who turned independent and supported Stevenson.

If the GOP won the four outstanding races in which they were leading—in Kentucky, Wyoming, Arizona and Michigan—they could organize the Senate Jan. 3 with Morse's help.

Stevenson was able to hold together only the tattered remnants of the once-solid South, plus possibly Kentucky and Missouri in the border states, by his campaign of "talking sense to the American people." His running mate, Sen. John Sparkman, helped salvage his home state of Alabama, but not much else.

Pettis County Casts Split Ballot

Ike, Donnelly And Kem Carry In Local Vote

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower took a 13-vote lead in the first precinct to report in Pettis County last night and apparently it was a lucky number. From that point on he was never behind.

When all 46 precincts had reported, he had left Stevenson far behind by more than 1,600 votes, with a total of 8,742 to Stevenson's 7,051.

Although there was much "scratch" voting, the pull of the general carried all but two of the other state Republican candidates into the win column in Pettis County.

James Kem outdistanced Stuart Symington 7,964 to 7,730 for U. S. Senator, a direct contradiction of the trend of the state as a whole.

The Democrats took the offices of governor and lieutenant governor by close margins that may yet be upset by the absentee counts. Phil Donnelly led Howard Elliott 7,866 to 7,755, a difference of only 111 votes for governor.

James Blair Jr. won over Henry Arthur for lieutenant governor by a vote of 7,932 to 7,781, a difference of 151 votes.

All other state offices were Republican in Pettis County. Following are the total counts for the 46 precincts, not including the absentee ballots.

For Secretary of State: Ballard Watters 7,899; Walter Toberman 7,738.

For Treasurer: Vern Carpenter 8,002; George Bates 7,644.

For Attorney General: Richard Webster 7,973; John Dalton 7,671.

For Congressman from the 11th Missouri District: Max Schwab 7,962; Morgan Moulder 7,691.

For State Senator: Ted Hawkins 7,991; Jackson Stanton 7,650.

For those who followed reports of the precincts as they were received at the Democrat-Capital, the handwriting was on the Republican wall all night. After that first precinct reported a 13-vote margin for the GOP nominee the totals ran like this:

Four precincts in—Ike 520, Adlai 278.

Nine precincts—Ike 1,776, Adlai 1,259.

16 precincts—Ike 2,600; Adlai 2,113.

28 precincts—Ike 5,157; Adlai 3,857.

40 precincts—Ike 6,897; Adlai 5,130.

36th Dist. Masonic Assn. to Meet Here

The 36th District Masonic Association will hold its fourth orderly meeting in the Masonic Temple in Sedalia at 5:30 p. m. Saturday. Election of officers will be held. The banquet will be at 6:30 p. m. Chet A. Keyes will deliver the main address at 8 p. m. in the blue room. All Master Masons and lady friends are welcome. Call 2642-W or 1814-J for banquet tickets.

Thanks to Judges, Clerks Who Called Democrat the Totals

The Democrat-Capital expresses its gratitude to the many judges and clerks of the election Tuesday for their fine cooperation in getting the results of their precincts to the newspaper. By 11 p. m. Tuesday 44 of the 46 precincts had notified the newspaper their results.

Two heavy precincts were delayed until later, the last being received at 12:02 a. m. Wednesday, giving the complete totals for Pettis County.

After a hard day's work, from 6 a. m. until they had completed the counting, book work and delivering the ballots to the county clerk, these fine people did not delay, but notified the newspaper almost immediately.

County Favors Amendments

Pettis Countians voted for both constitutional amendments Tuesday, but the vote on Amendment No. 2 was so close that it could easily be reversed by the absentee ballots.

The county also backed the return of four Supreme Court judges to the bench by strong majorities.

Amendment No. 1, limiting the legislative sessions to five months and to special sessions of 60 days, was passed by a vote of 4,837 to 3,994, a difference of 843 votes.

The story on Amendment 2 was vastly different. The amendment, which would raise the limit on a school district's ability to incur bonded indebtedness, was passed by a scant 153 votes. The final tally was 4,713 for and 4,560 against. With a possible 882 absentee ballots in the offing, this could easily be reversed.

Returned to the state Supreme Court were Ernest M. Tipton, Frank Hollingsworth, C. A. Leedy Jr., and S. P. Dalton. Yes and no tallies for them were as follows: Tipton, 5,471—1,247; Hollingsworth, 5,430—1,230; Leedy Jr., 5,287—1,213; and Dalton, 5,321—1,235.

Moulder Leads For Congress

Morgan Moulder, Democrat of Camdenton, was leading Max Schwab, Republican of Columbia, 67,025 to 66,366 with 430 of the 446 precincts of the 11th congressional district reporting today.

The winner of this race will represent Pettis County in the House of Representatives.

Sen. Hawkins Far Ahead

Senator C. R. "Ted" Hawkins, Republican of Brumley, leads Jackson C. Stanton, Democrat of Tuscumbia, for state senator from the 33rd district, which includes Pettis County.

Hawkins, the incumbent, polled 17,217 to 12,398 for Stanton with 101 of 174 precincts of the district reporting.

Taylor, Barrick, Trotter Win for Demos; Callis, Maggard, Dow Are GOP Victors

Pettis County voters went with the most of the state Republican candidates Tuesday, but when it came to voting for the home folks they split right down the middle.

Although the chance still stands that the possible 882 absentee ballots—when they are counted Friday—could make some changes in the final outcomes, it appears that Pettis County elected three Democrats and three Republicans in the contested county offices.

Here are the apparent winners, with all 46 precincts reported and not including the absentee ballots.

Harvey Dow, Republican, for representative.

Edw. Callis, Republican, for judge on the county court from the western district.

Harold Barrick, Democrat, for prosecuting attorney.

John F. Taylor, Democrat, for sheriff.

Charles Maggard, Republican, for public administrator.

For Representative

Harvey Dow, Republican, led the race for state representative by a 372-vote margin over W. L. Marlin, with write-in candidate Dan Drew making a good race. Dow had 7,251, Marlin 6,879, and Drew 1,509.

For Western Judge

Edw. Callis, Republican incumbent, won re-election as judge on the county court from the western district. He held a lead of 2,530 to 1,477 over Louise O'Rear, the Democratic candidate.

Barrick as Prosecutor

Harold Barrick won the job of prosecuting attorney beyond the possibility of a change when he defeated Mike Bogutski, Republican incumbent, by 945 votes. Even were Bogutski to receive every absentee ballot cast, he could not change the decision, since only a possible 882 absentee ballots could be counted. The present score: Barrick 8,318, Bogutski 7,373.

Sheriff Leads Ticket

Sheriff John Taylor led the Democratic ticket in the county

Can Get Bad Now

Well, now that we've all voted the weather can go ahead and get bad—at least bad enough to provide us with some of the moisture we need so badly.

Partly cloudy and cooler tonight and Thursday. Low tonight near 35. High Thursday in 50s.

The temperature at 7 a. m. was 46; 73 at 1 p. m. and 75 at 2 p. m.

Stage of Lake of the Ozarks: 2.4, no change.

Amendments Carry In Missouri Vote

• Returns of proposed Missouri Constitutional amendments:

Amendment No. 1 (to limit legislative sessions to five months and pay legislators $10 a day expenses in addition to their present $125 a month salary, 2,341 of 4,771 precincts, for 336,566, against 237,549.

Amendment No. 2 (to raise the debt limit for school districts from 5 to 10 per cent of assessed property valuation), 2,342 of 4,771 precincts, for 370,948, against 231,720.

But in President Truman's home district, the Fourth, Rep. Leonard Irving, the Democratic incumbent, was ousted by Jeffrey P. Hillelson, 33-year-old Independence grocer. Irving, a labor union leader, is serving his second term.

Several other congressional races were still undecided this morning. All the minor state offices appeared to have been won by Democrats, although the counting there was slower than for the top spots on the ticket.

Earl Saunders Elected In Jefferson County

Earl Saunders, son of Mrs. J. C. Saunders, 1001 South Vermont, was elected prosecuting attorney in Jefferson County, with more than 3,000 majority. Mr. Saunders is a former Sedalian.

C. of C. Banquet Tonight Drawing Record Crowd

The largest attendance in the history of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce annual banquets is expected tonight with 469 reservations in this morning, according to Chester A. Brown, executive-manager.

The banquet, which will be held at the Smith-Cotton High School cafeteria, will begin promptly at 6:30 o'clock tonight. Plaques will be on the tables for 32 different firms that will have five or more people from their organization and there will be place-cards for each person of each firm.

There will also be sections for firms that do not have five representatives.

The speaker of the evening will be Dwight D. Eisenhower, Commercial Organization Department Manager of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Washington, D. C.

The first part of the meeting will be presided over by the retiring president, Jack Cunningham, and the latter part by the new president, Claude Boul.

Barn on Summers Farm at Beaman Burns at Noon

A large hay barn on the Summers Brothers farm, one half mile south of Beaman, was destroyed by fire shortly after 12:30 p. m. Wednesday, together with its contents.

A machine and tool shed nearby also burned and a large number of farmers and others were combating a blaze up to 2 p. m. Dry grass was ablaze. The flames reached to a cornfield and the volunteer firefighters were working tirelessly to check the flames which at that hour were believed to be under control.

The property involved is owned by Mrs. Mary Summers.

The fire attracted an exceptionally large number of people, many of them joining in the battle against the fire and others watching their progress in smothering the flames.

Crossroads Comment By G. H. S.

Yes, INDEED, we've never had it better; not in twenty long years.

The voters Tuesday made a date with a statesman. This time it was a real man-date.

Senator Wayne Morse says: "Eisenhower fooled the people." Didn't he, though? He sure made a fool out of Morse.

The real tip-off on how this election was going came from Stan Hudson, Fair Deal devotee, who deserted the ranks at the last minute and gave a full column before election to buttering up the Republicans and declaring what nice people they were. To ease his pain I bought him a beer.

Now that it's over let's not have any vindictiveness, boys, nor become too platitudinous about joining hands and singing Hallelujah in Republican refrain for four years without paying attention to details. All of us want, and expect, some mighty good Republican performance.

Everyone knows that Sedalia's official voters' registration lists are as moldy as old cheese.

The 1950 census indicates Sedalia's population as 20,354. This includes men, women and children. The registration list of persons over 21 years lists 19,669. The school enumeration of children over 6 and under 20 is 4,215. And there must be several thousand under 6. Then there's that group between 20 and 21 not accounted for.

It would be stretching it maybe to say that Sedalia's registration should be 12,000. And that's a long way from 19,669.

There ought to be a way to dry clean that list. Perhaps the city chairmen of the two political parties could initiate the move or tell us how to do it. How about getting the legislature to void our list and require a new and up-to-date registration?

The Chamber of Commerce is always interested in the census. How about taking this registration problem on as a 1953 project?

Ike Is Solemn As He Reads Victory Note

Bedlam Reigns As He Appears In Big Ballroom

NEW YORK (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower stood there, solemn and unsmiling, holding a piece of paper in his right hand early today.

He looked a little tired. The deep crease that cuts across his nose, between the eyes, is an un-fading mark of deep feeling. He stared into the hot, blue-white light pouring down on him and gestured—a small, almost helpless gesture—toward the crowd in front of him. It was a long moment before he could speak.

The people in the Hotel Commodore's big ballroom were frantic with delight and excitement. Some were standing on chairs. Some were throwing confetti, made from torn tully sheets, into the air. Others were embracing each other. The hoarse cries and the shrieking and screaming swelled into a frenzy.

Eisenhower tried again. Then, through the din, he began to speak. "I am indeed as humbled as I am proud," he said.

He looked straight out across the great throng.

In this moment of supreme victory, there was little expression on his face. The famous flashing smile and the animation were gone. He frowned again.

With his first words the deafening roar subsided, and then collapsed entirely.

What he had to say was quickly and soberly said.

First, he read a telegram of congratulations from Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson. Then he read his reply:

"I thank you for your courteous and generous message. Recognizing the intensity of the difficulties that lie ahead, it is clearly necessary that men and women of good will of both parties forget the political strife of the past and devote themselves to a single purpose of a better future. This I believe they will do."

The storm of applause and excitement burst again. Eisenhower quickly stilled it.

He said, "It is true to say that this is a day of dedication rather than triumph. . . I recognize clearly the weight of the responsibilities that you have placed on me, and I assure you that I shall never in my service in Washington give short weight to those responsibilities."

His voice was grave. He was speaking slowly.

He expressed the hope of unity in the nation now, "for the better future of America, for our children and for our grandchildren."

For the second time in the evening, he thanked the people who worked for him. Then he said goodnight and left the room. This was the final moment in the long struggle for the presidency.

Shortly afterward, his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, announced that the President-elect, members of his family and a few people on his personal staff would leave this afternoon for a 10-day rest at Augusta, Ga.

Whether Eisenhower will begin his new task with a trip to Korea—before the inauguration in January—is still not known. In the closing days of the campaign, he pledged himself to go to the scene of the Korean War for a personal inspection. He placed the achieving of peace as the first and greatest objective of his work, and he said he felt he could best make the start by visiting the battlefields and studying the Korean problem on the ground.

Hagerty said "there has never been a schedule, so far as I know," made for the Korean trip.

When Eisenhower left the ballroom, the celebration broke out with even greater fury. He hurried to a suite in the hotel where scores of his friends and political associates were waiting. They had been with him all evening. Among them were Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, ex-Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, and many others.

A large cake, brought in anticipation of the moment, was waiting to be cut.

With a small smile, Eisenhower said, "I have never cut a presidential cake before."

Text of Stevenson's Note of Concession

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Following is the text of the concession telegram which Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson sent early today to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower:

"The people have made their choice and I congratulate you. That you may be the servant and guardian of peace and make the day of victory a door of hope is my earnest prayer. Best wishes."

Gen. Eisenhower replied in a telegram to Stevenson:

"I thank you for your courteous and generous message. Recognizing the intensity of the difficulties that lie ahead, it is clearly necessary that men and women of good will of both parties forget the political strife through which we have passed and devote themselves to the single purpose of a better future. This, I believe, they will do."

Ike's Son Sends 'Congrats' to Parents

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA (AP)—Maj. John Eisenhower, son of the President-elect, today sent the following message to his parents in New York:

"Dear folks: My heartiest congratulations. My thoughts were with you all the way. "Johnny."

Rhee Says America Choses 'Best Man'

PUSAN, Korea (AP)—South Korean President Syngman Rhee said today, "The American people have chosen the best man as their president."

Ike Wins N. Y. By 800,000; Loses NY City

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower ran roughshod over Democratic-Liberal opposition to carry New York State and its 45 electoral votes by more than 800,000 in an almost complete tally today.

The Republican President-elect's plurality was the greatest since Calvin Coolidge took the state by about one million votes in 1924.

It was more than 13 times larger than the margin over President Truman four years ago.

With New York City complete, and returns from 5,787 of 5,954 upstate voting districts, the tabulation was:

Eisenhower, 3,851,975; Gov. Adlai Stevenson, Democrat-Liberal, 3,044,643; Vincent Hallinan, Progressive, 62,497.

The total vote exceeded seven million for a new record.

Stevenson was nominated by New York's Liberal party as well as the Democrats.

New York City, traditionally Democratic and the center of the nation's liberal movement, voted for Stevenson but the margin was not large enough to offset the upstate outpouring of Eisenhower votes.

Even in New York City, Eisenhower's strength surprised not only his opponents but his supporters.

The New York City vote was: Stevenson, 1,857,087; Eisenhower, 1,494,413; Vincent Hallinan, Progressive, 57,838. Stevenson won 335,968 of his votes on the Liberal party line of the voting machines.

Eisenhower thus lost the city by 362,674 votes to Stevenson.

Dewey, in 1948, lost it by 488,257 to Truman who also had Liberal backing. Truman's margin undoubtedly would have been higher will of both parties forget the political strife of the past and devote themselves to a single purpose of a better future. This I believe they will do."

The 1948 New York City vote was: Truman, 1,596,545; Dewey, 1,108,288; Wallace, 422,355.

Sparkman Says 'I Concur Fully' To People's Vote

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, Democratic candidate for vice president, said early today, "The American people have spoken, and I concur fully in their choice."

Sparkman issued his statement after Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, the party's presidential nominee, had conceded defeat of the Democratic slate.

"I have no regrets over the outcome of this election," Sparkman said. "The American people have spoken and I concur fully in their choice. I believe in the necessity of presenting a united front and will do my best to co-operate with Gen. Eisenhower and his administration to fulfill the responsibilities facing the country."

Sparkman said he saw no "difficulty" as far as the Democratic party is concerned. He said it will be a party of "loyal opposition, but can be looked to to co-operate fully in any constructive program that is proposed."

Truman's Own Precinct Goes for Eisenhower

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—President Truman's home precinct here gave Eisenhower 197 votes to 124 for Stevenson in the presidential election yesterday.

That was almost a direct reversal of the 1948 vote. The precinct then gave Mr. Truman 197 votes to 135 for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Text of Ike's First Talk

NEW YORK (AP)—Following is the text of Gen. Eisenhower's early morning talk to the crowd assembled in the ballroom at his hotel headquarters:

"I am not certain, my friends, whether or not you have read or heard the telegram that Mr. Stevenson just sent to me. It reads:

"The people have made their choice and I congratulate you. That you may be the servant and the guardian of peace and make the day of trouble a dawn of hope is my earnest prayer. Best wishes, Adlai Stevenson."

Just as I came down to the ballroom I replied to that telegram as follows:

"I thank you for your courteous and generous message. Recognizing the intensity of the difficulties that lie ahead, it is clearly necessary that men and women of good will of both parties forget the political strife of the past and devote themselves to a single purpose of a better future. This I believe they will do. It is signed with my name."

Now, my friends, it is true to say that this is a day of dedication rather than triumph, but I am indeed as humble as I am proud by the decision that the American people have made. I recognize clearly the weight of the responsibilities that you have responsibilities that you have that I shall never in my service in Washington give short weight to those responsibilities.

To each of you here who has worked so hard to make this crusade a success thus far, to every man, woman and child—and there have been many children in it—throughout the country who have helped, I extend my warm thanks and hope that the day will come when I can extend that thanks in a more personal way.

Now, all over the country there is still a more personal word of appreciation. The courtesy, the warmth of the greeting that Mamie and I have experienced everywhere has been something that is memorable, indeed, unforgettable. So to everybody this evening we feel this very great debt of gratitude."

I also point out that we cannot now do all the job ahead of us except as united people. So let us really put into practice what I have tried to say so haltingly in the little telegram that I sent to my late rival. Let us unite for the better future of America, for our children and our grandchildren.

And now, my friends, it has been a long and sometimes a hard road, but it has been great to meet you people, to work with you—all of you—for a common cause. Good night."

They're 'I Like Ike'—

Three Little Words, Just 8 Little Letters Spell Victory

Three little words of one syllable each, carrying eight letters in all, "I Like Ike," did more to bring about election of Dwight D. Eisenhower for president of the United States than a large part of the bombastic oratory and other campaign chicanery.

This is the summation of a seasoned old Sedalia politician who has watched the newspapers, listened to radio and television appeals from the candidates and their supporters. He condemned the vilification, charges and counter charges of corruption, Communistic tendencies and excessive spending. He would get fighting angry at some of the slurs, allegations and condemnations fired from either side in the great political battle which had taken precedence on the front pages of the large and small dailies of the country, even over the fighting in Korea.

These three little words, in his opinion, had an impelling magical touch to a great mass of voters who had not given deep thought to the underlying and most vital issues, other than that they felt a change in administration might be helpful.

"Say boy," he exclaimed, "it was a big deal to combat the new deal, fair deal and other deals" some of which were, in his viewpoint, detrimental to the nation's well-being.

"Now," says he, "we'll see what is ahead of us, but whatever it might be the nation stands to continue to uphold its high dignity and prestige both at home and abroad."

Kansas City Precinct Legally Votes More Than It Registered

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The 88th precinct of Blue Township voted more than 100 per cent of its registration in Tuesday's election.

Registration was 358. The voters numbered 359. Pfc. Frank Baker, home on furlough from the army, took advantage of a law permitting servicemen to register at the polling place.

Sen. Kem Concedes Loss to Symington

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Sen. James P. Kem today conceded his defeat to Stuart Symington, his Democratic opponent in the race for U. S. Senator from Missouri.

He issued this statement: "I am grateful to my friends for their magnificent effort on behalf of the Republican ticket in Missouri. It was a great fight. I have no regrets. I have sent the following telegram to Mr. Symington:

"I congratulate you on your election as United States Senator from Missouri. I hope you may be able to do much in the struggle for peace and the welfare of our country."

At the time he released his statement, Senator Kem was trailing Symington by about 120,000 votes on the basis of incomplete and unofficial returns.

California Goes GOP; Native Son Is New Veep

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A mighty surge of votes swept Dwight D. Eisenhower to an impressive Republican victory in California—and helped elect a native son, Sen. Richard M. Nixon as vice president.

Eisenhower carried the GOP to its first presidential triumph in a heavy Democratic California since 1928. At no time did Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois challenge the general's grasp of the state's 32 electoral votes.

The vote from 11,039 of the 20,746 precincts:

Eisenhower, 1,175,332; Stevenson, 917,835.

Of the 58 counties, 50 went Republican—Los Angeles most importantly. Only seven supported Stevenson. The 58th, Little Mono, was unreported. President Truman took 28 counties—and the state—in 1948, by 17,000.

The Republican sweep carried over to congressional races.

With 30 seats at stake, GOP candidates were assured of eight and led in 12 other districts. Only one Republican incumbent, Thomas Werdell of Bakersfield, was trailing. The GOP holds a 13-10 edge in the present delegation. California gained seven new representatives under the 1950 census.

Nixon's election as vice president leaves a Senate vacancy for Republican Gov. Earl Warren to fill next January.

State Controller Thomas Kuchel, a Republican who calls Anaheim in Southern California his home, has been most frequently mentioned to get the Senate post.

Nebraska Puts All Electoral Votes to Ike

OMAHA (AP)—Nebraska has put its six electoral votes in Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's column with a down-the-line Republican party triumph of near landslide proportions.

With returns into the conclusive stage, not a Democrat appeared in position to crack the solidly Republican Nebraska front.

And the presidential race shaped up as one of the most—if not the most—lopsided in Nebraska's history.

With 673 of the state's 2,067 precincts reported, Eisenhower held a percentage lead of 72 to 28 per cent.

Bitter Day for Losers—

'Too Old to Cry, Hurts Too Much to Laugh'

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—This was the sour and bitter morning after for the legions who followed Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson—and lost.

The defeated Democratic presidential candidate himself admitted he felt as Abraham Lincoln once did after a losing election:

"Like a little boy who had stubbed his toe in the dark—but who was too old to cry and 'it hurt too much to laugh.'"

Still, the rumpled-looking slender man who was the Democratic standard-bearer could muster a smile and a quip even in the defeat that must have been even more disheartening to him than to his followers.

The capitulation came shortly after midnight, Central Standard Time. At that hour the vote returns showed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower rushing to a tremendous victory.

At the Executive Mansion shortly before midnight there was a conference. The lights blazed brightly. Newsmen and townspeople gathered on the mansion lawn and peered into windows for a glimpse of the men in the drama.

In his basement office, Stevenson met with these men: Wilson Wyatt, his campaign manager; George W. Ball, executive director of the Volunteers for Stevenson; Carl McGowan and William M. Blair Jr., his administrative assistants, and William I. Flanagan, his press secretary.

The word already came that New York State was gone. Eisenhower had cracked the Solid South. Pennsylvania and Illinois and other key states were shifting to the general.

And so the decision was made that the Democratic cause was hopelessly buried under a landslide of votes. Wilson Wyatt had held out to the last against any concession of victory to the Republicans. Others in the Stevenson command had already seen the handwriting on the wall—and privately conceded defeat. They felt themselves that Wyatt should have admitted the realities sooner.

So the door opened in the mansion basement and Stevenson with his sons, Borden and John Fell, and members of his official family came out. He drove three blocks to the Leland Hotel, where Wyatt had set up election eve headquarters.

A crowd of admirers was waiting in the ballroom on the second floor.

Many were clinging to the bitter end to the hope that somehow somewhere the tide would turn and give Stevenson the electoral votes he needed.

But Stevenson knew he was beaten. He had sensed it, an aide later said, from the time he was handed a news report that Paul Fitzpatrick, New York State Democratic chairman, had conceded the state to Eisenhower, with its big chunk of 45 electoral votes.

And then Col. Jacob Arvey of Chicago—Illinois Democratic national committeeman—who had sponsored Stevenson's entry into politics, conceded Illinois to the Eisenhower forces.

Stevenson came through a back entrance and walked upstairs to the ballroom. The crowd broke into cheers. They began chanting, "We want Stevenson," and he gave them a big grin. He looked relaxed and at ease.

Then the crowd became quiet. Stevenson's smile faded, and he looked out at the people who had pinned their hopes of victory on him. And in a clear and unhurried voice he told them:

"My fellow citizens have made their choice and have selected Gen. Eisenhower and the Republican party as the instruments of their will for the next four years. The people have rendered their verdict and I gladly accept it."

That was it. That was the concession of defeat. The reporters broke out of the room in a run for telephones to signal the concession. Stevenson went on talking. He said of Eisenhower—the man whom he had attacked so bitterly in recent weeks:

"Gen. Eisenhower has been a great leader in war. He has been a vigorous and valiant opponent in the campaign. These qualities will now be dedicated to leading us all through the next four years."

"It is traditionally American to fight hard before an election. It is equally traditional to close ranks as soon as the people have spoken. From the depths of my heart I thank all of my party, and all of those independents and Republicans who supported Sen. Sparkman and me."

"That which unites us as American citizens is far greater than that which divides us as political partisans. I urge you all to give to Gen. Eisenhower the support he will need to carry out the great tasks that lie before him. I pledge him mine."

Elliott Says Governor Race Was Overshadowed

ST. LOUIS (AP)—State Rep. Howard Elliott of St. Louis County, the defeated candidate for governor, said today the governorship campaign was "overshadowed by national issues."

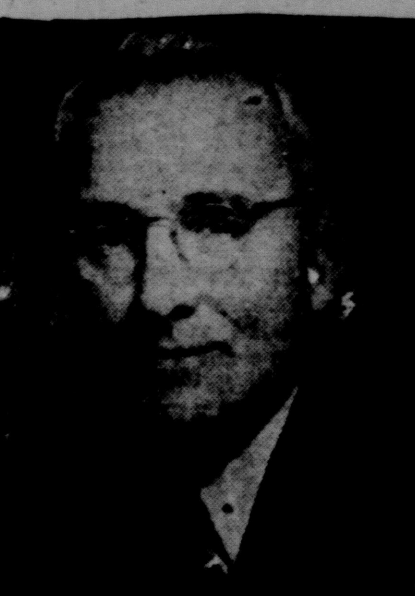

He announced he had congratulated his successful rival, former Democratic Gov. Phil M. Donnelly, "with genuine sincerity because we have both given many years to the advancement of our state government as we saw it."

"I wish him every success," Elliott said, "and extend my deep thanks to all those who helped me."

Like your travel with a JOYOUS THRILL?

WE HAVE NEWS for a lot of folks who want more fun from driving than they get from their present cars.

There's a trim bundle of eager high-powered energy that's just the ticket for you—a spirited automobile that can give you thrill after joyous thrill, for mile after fleeting mile.

Why not come in and try the Buick we have in mind?

The excitement starts with your first look at it, your first sitting in it, your first fingering of its slender wheel.

But wait till Dynaflo Drive* begins working its magic—and its constant and complete smoothness fills you with never-ending wonder.

Wait till you feel the bubbling exuberance of taking your first hill with a high-compression Fireball 8 Engine doing the honors. That's when you get a man-sized sampling of the tremendously able and instantly responsive power you command here.

Wait till you feel the serene satisfaction of skimming over rough roads, cobbles or ridged crossings. That's when you know, better than words can tell, what a million dollars' worth of ride engineering can do in the way of magnificent comfort.

Wait till you jockey into a real tight parking space and note the fun and ease that Power Steering brings to a once-tough job.

But—why wait?

There's a Buick that can do all this—and more, far more—all ready for you to try it.

And listen: If you can afford a new car, you can afford a Buick.

How about coming in this week for a real sampling of this joyous travel?

Merle Lee Kettle Flies Home After Getting Discharge

Merle Lee Kettle, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Kettle, 713 East 15th, received an honorable discharge from the navy Oct. 24 and flew here the next day for a reunion with his parents, his wife, and his 7-month-old son.

Kettle joined the navy four years ago after his graduation from the Smith-Cotton High School. He received his boot training at San Diego and then was assigned to the USS Jason, a repair ship. He has been with the Jason since then, most of the time in Korean waters servicing warships between Japan and Korea.

Kettle, who was an electrician second class, lives with his wife Sally and his son Stevie Lee, at 904 South Moniteau.

Sentenced Because She Refused to Send Her Boys to School

PARIS, Ont. (AP) — Mrs. Percy Gill was sentenced yesterday to pay a $2 fine or spend two days in jail because she wouldn't send her 14-year-old son to school.

Chief Constable Thomas Bean said the boy had been to class only a half day since the fall term began. Mrs. Gill said she needed her son at home because her husband was ill and she has to support their six children. The constable refused, however, to give the lad a permit to stay away from school.

State by State Summary Shows Ike's Strength

WASHINGTON (AP)—The election results, state by state:
ALABAMA (11 electoral votes) Appeared safe for Stevenson. Democrats kept all nine house seats. No election for governor or senator this year.

ARIZONA (4) Eisenhower leading, with half the vote in Democratic Sen. Ernest W. McFarland trailing Republican Barry Goldwater. Republican Gov. Howard Pyle re-elected. Race for both House seats, now held by Democrats, in doubt.

ARKANSAS (8) Stevenson ahead, on the basis of the vote. Democrats elected Francis Cherry governor, won five of six House seats, with the other undecided. Arkansas, which had seven congressional districts, lost one in redistricting based on the 1950 population census. In previous lineup, all seven were Democrats. No Senate election.

CALIFORNIA (32) Went for Eisenhower. Republican Sen. William F. Knowland re-elected. No race for governor. Republicans won 10 House seats, Democrats six, with 14 undecided. Old alignment, before redistricting gave California seven more: Republicans 13, Democrats 10.

COLORADO (6) Eisenhower holds commanding lead. Republican Gov. Dan Thornton re-elected. No Senate race. Republicans won one House seat, with three others in doubt. Old lineup was 2-2.

CONNECTICUT (8) Carried by Eisenhower. Republicans won both Senate races and five of the six for the House, which had been aligned: Democrats 2, Republicans 4. In the hot Senate battle, William A. Purtell ousted Democratic Sen. William Benton, bitter foe of Wisconsin's Prescott Bush defeated A. A. Rife.

DELAWARE (3) Eisenhower holding slight edge. Former Rep. J. Caleb Boggs unseated Democratic Gov. Elbert N. Carvel, GOP Sen. John J. Williams was re-elected and the lone House seat stayed GOP.

FLORIDA (10) Went for Eisenhower. But local Democrats won Sen. Spessard L. Holland re-elected, Dan McCarthy chosen governor and Democrats took seven of the eight House seats, held a slim lead in the other. Districting boosted Florida's delegation from the present six, all Democrats.

GEORGIA (12) Stevenson ahead. Democrats retained the ten House seats. No senator or governor race.

IDAHO (4) Eisenhower carried. Republicans kept one House seat, other in doubt. Republicans held both in last Congress.

ILLINOIS (27) Went Eisenhower. State Treasurer William G. Stratton, Republican, was leading Lt. Gov. Sherwood Dixon, Democrat, in the governor's race. Republicans won 14 House seats. Democrats eight, with three undecided. Old lineup before redistricting dropped one, was Republicans 18 to 8.

INDIANA (13) Carried by Eisenhower. G. O. P. Sen. William E. Jenner re-elected and George N. Craig, Republican and former national commander of the American Legion, elected governor. Republicans captured 10 of the 11 House seats. Old lineup: Republicans 9 to 2.

IOWA (10) Eisenhower apparent winner. Republicans re-elected Gov. William S. Beardsley and retained all eight House seats. No Senate race.

KANSAS (8) Eisenhower won. Republican Gov. Edward F. Arn re-elected. Republicans dropped one House seat to Democrats, kept the other five. No Senate race.

KENTUCKY (10) Went for Stevenson. Democratic Sen. Thomas R. Underwood was behind Republican Sherman Cooper in race for balance of late Sen. Virgil Chapman's term ending Jan. 3, 1955. Four Democrats, two Republicans won for the House, with two in doubt. Old lineup, before redistricting cost one, was seven Democrats, two Republicans.

LOUISIANA (8) Nip and tuck, with Stevenson ahead. Democrats kept all eight House seats. No Senate or governor race.

MAINE (3) For Eisenhower. Gov. Frederick G. Payne elected senator. Burton M. Cross elected governor and all representatives re-elected on Sept. 28. All Republicans.

MARYLAND (9) Went for Eisenhower. Republicans elected J. Glenn Beall as senator, won four of seven House seats to break 3-3 deadlock before redistricting added one. No governor election.

MASSACHUSETTS (16) Eisenhower, in a close one, Former GOP Rep. Christian A. Herter leading Gov. Paul A. Dever for governor. Democrat John F. Kennedy, former representative, beat Republican Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. for Senate. In House, it was six Republicans, with two undecided. Old lineup: Republicans 8 to 6.

MICHIGAN (20) Eisenhower leading. Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams, seeking third term, trailing Fred M. Alger, Jr., Republican. Sen. Blair Moody, Democrat, behind Charles E. Potter, Republican. Nine Republicans, four Democrats elected in House, with five in doubt. Old alignment, before Michigan gained one seat by redistricting: Democrats 5, Republicans 12.

MINNESOTA (11) Won by Eisenhower. Republicans re-elected Gov. C. Elmer Anderson and Sen. Edward J. Thye and won two House seats to the Democrats one, with six in doubt. Old setup: Republicans 5 to 4.

MISSISSIPPI (8) Carried by Stevenson. Sen. John

C. Stennis re-elected and other Democrats kept the six House seats, trimmed one in redistricting.

MISSOURI (13) Very close between Stevenson, Eisenhower, even with most precincts counted. Democrat Phil M. Donnelly elected governor. Democrat Stuart Symington unseated GOP Sen. James P. Kem. In House four Democrats and three Republicans elected, with four in doubt. Before redistricting cost two, it was Democrats nine, Republicans four.

MONTANA (4) Went Eisenhower. Democratic Gov. John W. Bonner was trailing Republican J. Hugo Aronson in his bid or re-election. GOP Sen. Zales N. Ecton was behind Democratic Rep. Mike Mansfield in the Senate race. One Republican elected to House, other undecided. Old Count: 1-1.

NEBRASKA (6) Eisenhower's. A Republican over Democrat former Lt. Gov. Robert B. Crosby as governor, re-electing Sen. Hugh Butler to a third term and electing Dwight Griswold to the term of the late Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry, which ends Jan. 3, 1955. GOP retained all four House seats.

NEVADA (3) Eisenhower took it. Republican Sen. George W. Malone re-elected over Democrat Thomas B. Meckling. The one House seat, now Democratic, in doubt.

NEW HAMPSHIRE (4) An Eisenhower landslide. Republican Hugh Gregg elected governor. Republicans kept both House seats. No Senate election.

NEW JERSEY (16) Eisenhower's. Sen. H. Alexander Smith re-elected. No governor's race. Republicans won nine, Democrats five of the 14 House seats, retaining the old division.

NEW MEXICO (4) Captured by Eisenhower. Republican Gov. Edwin L. Mechem re-elected. Democratic Sen. Dennis Chavez ahead of Republican Patrick J. Hurley. Two House seats, now Democratic, in doubt.

NEW YORK (45) Eisenhower's by almost a million. Republican Irving M. Ives won another Senate term and Republicans won 27 House seats to the Democrats' 16. Old alignment, before redistricting cost New York two: Republicans 23, Democrats 22. No race for governor.

NORTH CAROLINA (14) Went to Stevenson. Democrat William B. Umstead elected governor. Democrats dropped one House seat, making it now: Democrats 11, Republicans 4.

NORTH DAKOTA (4) Eisenhower running ahead. Republican Sen. William Langer and

Gov. Norman Brundage re-elected. Their party kept both House seats.

OHIO (25) Carried by Eisenhower. Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche beat Republican Charles P. Taft to win unprecedented fourth term. GOP Sen. John W. Bricker re-elected, defeating former Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle. Republicans won 15. Democrats five house seats, with three in doubt. Former lineup: Republicans 16, Democrats 6, independent 1.

OKLAHOMA (8) For Eisenhower. No governor or Senate race, but Democrats won five of six House seats. Old alignment, before loss of two by redistricting, was Democrats 5, Republicans 1, vacancies 2.

OREGON (6) Eisenhower two to one, with half the votes in. Republicans kept four House seats. No governor or Senate election.

New Crop Outlet
SHOALS, Ind. (AP)—Norval Bledsoe has found a new outlet for a cash crop on his farm.
Recently, he sold 2,000 poles from his sassafras tree woods. They were about 4 inches in diameter and 8 to 12 feet long. A steel company bought the poles for use in its pudding operations.

Fires In The City

Burning grass, believed to have been started by a cigarette thrown from a car in the 500 block on South Barrett, caused a run by the fire companies at 2:20 a. m. Wednesday. The fire started in a drainage ditch and burned east from Barrett. No damage resulted.

Sparks from trash being burned in a steel barrel set fire to a pile of old lumber in back of 1104 South Osage about 9:50 a. m. Wednesday, resulting in slight damage. The owner reported a neighbor must have been using the barrel to burn trash.

Two more runs were made by fire companies Wednesday. Burning trash set fire to grass in the alley between Harrison and Grand streets and caused a run by the fire companies at 1:34 p. m. Burning grass in an alley behind 1020 West 10th caused a run by the companies at 1:15 p. m.

Nixon Urges All America Join Together

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Richard M. Nixon, successful GOP candidate for vice president, urged in a victory statement today that all Americans "join together behind the leadership of our president, Dwight D. Eisenhower, to advance the cause of freedom and to bring about peace throughout the world."

The young running mate of Gen. Eisenhower spoke to a nationwide audience on television and radio shortly after the general election. He made his winning declaration in New York City.

"We want to express our appreciation to the thousands of volunteer workers all over America—Republicans, independents and Democrats—who joined in the crusade which has elected Dwight Eisenhower president of the United States. The result of the election is a great expression of the confidence and faith that the American people have in his leadership."

"In the natural gratification that we all feel at this moment, we must never forget the great responsibility that a new administration must assume in the critical period ahead," Nixon said. Eisenhower has said on occasion after election, there is no problem which 160 million united Americans cannot solve.

"Now that the election is over, let us join together behind his leadership to advance the cause of freedom and to bring about peace throughout the world."

GOPs In Kansas Ride to Victory With Eisenhower

TOPEKA (AP) — President-Elect Dwight D. Eisenhower won a resounding general election victory in his home state as well as the nation Tuesday.

While Gov. Edward P. Arn and other Republican state officials rode to re-election in the Eisenhower landslide, Democrats cracked the Sunflower state's solid GOP congressional front for the first time since 1940.

Howard S. Miller, Morrill farmer turned back the bid of Rep. Albert M. Cole, Holt Republican, for a fifth term.

With two-thirds of the vote tabulated in the First District race, Miller led Cole, a supporter of the Tuttle Creek project, by approximately 8,000 votes.

John M. Houston, Wichita, was the last Democrat sent to Congress from the state. He was elected in 1950 from the old Fifth District.

The prospect of Eisenhower's home state margin over Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson remained uncertain as tabulators labored with the flood of ballots, but the general's plurality seemed likely to exceed 250,000.

Governor Arn and other Republican state officials lagged well behind the vote. The general polled but their victories were by substantial margins.

Joseph B. White, 84, died Wednesday morning at his home, 669 East 16th. He was born June 30, 1878 at Louisville, Ky., son of Dr. Everett and Elizabeth White.

When he was four he came with his parents to Sedalia, spending the remainder of his life here.

Nov. 5, 1906 he was married to Miss Nellie Hammond, Warsaw, and they were parents of two children, Everett, 1440 South Beacon, and Mrs. Guy Stevey, Twin Falls, Id., who survive together with his wife and two grandchildren, Wanda White and Norris Joe Starkey; two nieces, Mrs. Jennie DeWitt and Mrs. Georgia Foch, Sedalia; two nephews, Elmer and Jesse Laxon. A sister, Mrs. George Laxon preceded him in death in 1922.

Early in life he united with the Congregational Church.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

The body was taken to the Gillespie Funeral Home.

Mrs. Mary Dillana Johnson

Mrs. Mary Dillana Johnson, widow of the late John Henry Johnson of Calhoun, died at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Owen Tevis, route 3, Sedalia. She had been ill about eight months.

Mrs. Johnson was born Dec. 14, 1872, daughter of the late William and Lucy Robertson. On March 1, 1900, she married John Henry Johnson.

Surviving children, beside Mrs. Owen, are—Don, of Kansas City; Ray of Venezuela, South America; now in the Baker Memorial Hospital in Boston, Mass., having just undergone an operation; and Earl and Edna of the home. Also surviving are one brother, M. E. Robertson of Owasso, Okla.; nine grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

She was a member of the Oak Grove Methodist Church.

Funeral services will be held at Mt. Olivet Baptist Church at 2 p. m. Thursday.

Mrs. Sara DeLong Services

Funeral services for Mrs. Sara DeLong, who died Monday in Versailles, were held at 2 p. m. on Wednesday at the Baptist Church in Versailles with the Rev. McDonald of Creighton officiating. Burial was in the Ivy Cemetery.

Funeral services for Joseph Curran, 57, former Sedalian, who died in Chicago Sunday morning, will be held at St. Patrick's Catholic Church at 8 a. m. Thursday. The Rev. J. T. Nolan will officiate. Burial will be in the Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. Curran was born at Sedalia, Nov. 12, 1894, son of the late Bernard and Mary A. Welsh Curran. His early life was spent in Sedalia and he received his education in the local schools.

He moved to Chicago in 1922. Of recent years he has been employed by the Berger Lines Co. of Chicago.

Mr. Curran is survived by: one son, Joseph P., serving with the army forces stationed at San Diego, Calif.; one daughter, Joann Curran, Omaha, Neb.; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Agnes Samer, and Miss Lillie Curran, Pleasant Green and a twin sister Miss Helen Curran, Kansas City.

The body arrived in Sedalia at 11 a. m. Tuesday and is at the Ewing Funeral Home at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Kansas City Fails In Annexation Try

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City's effort to extend its boundaries still farther down in defeat in Tuesday's election. One proposal called for annexing 21 square miles of land in Clay County. It was defeated 55,252 to 59,613 on the basis of incomplete returns.

The other measure, calling for annexation of 19 1/2 square miles east of the city, was rejected 65,116 to 57,642 with returns nearly complete.

A $16,000,000 water bond issue carried.

Jackson County's live bond proposals, totalling about $3,000,000, were rejected.

Jaycees to Provide Reflective Tape to Put On Car Bumpers

A red reflective tape which can be seen half a mile away when placed on an automobile bumper, which can be seen 75 per cent quicker than the average tail light, will be provided to the public Saturday and Sunday by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Highway Patrol already has the tape installed on 230 patrol cars. The tape will be placed on Sedalia police cars and Jaycee vehicles as soon as possible.

It will be provided to the public at the Armory on Saturday from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. and on Sunday from 1 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. A five-foot strip of the tape will be installed on the rear bumper by Jaycee members for one dollar. The tape will last approximately two years.

St. Barton of the Highway Patrol has indicated his approval by saying, "Reflective tape is a great safety measure, as it enables motorists to see the outline of the automobile ahead at a much greater distance."

In a written statement, Ray Lipard, district manager of the Auto Club of America, said, "In view of the fact that the Auto Club is interested in promoting traffic safety in all its phases, we most emphatically endorse the activity of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in its project to apply reflective tape on the rear bumpers of automobiles."

"Speaking for the local club, I feel that this will be a distinct contribution to the cause of safety and commend the Jaycees for their fine work."

Albert Anderson, chairman of the Jaycee safety committee, said that ten rolls of the tape have been ordered from Jaycee headquarters at Jefferson City. Approximately 30 cars may be taped from each roll. If the supply runs out and if the demand for more tape warrants it, another batch of tape will be issued at a later date.

Election Won't Change Their 'Goldfish Bowl' Life, Mamie

NEW YORK (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower said early today her husband's election probably won't mean too much of a change in their lives—that it's already been sort of a "goldfish bowl" existence.

Mrs. Eisenhower, interviewed by some 10 women news reporters about 15 minutes after she had become first lady-elect, commented in this manner on her coming life in the White House:

"I don't think it can be any more trying than our life has been. In fact, I'll see more of my husband. We don't go out much of evenings."

She noted that her husband's activities as a top military commander and Columbia University president have kept them in the public eye for a considerable time.

"We've had guards for years," Mrs. Eisenhower said.

Being first lady, Mrs. Eisenhower said, "will just be playing the wife again which is something I've always done—meeting people and greeting people."

As far as entertaining in the White House or any other place, she said, "I do what is required or necessary."

Mrs. Eisenhower was asked about her plans after the Eisenhower's planned ten-day vacation in Georgia.

"Goodness, I haven't even unpacked from Paris yet," Mrs. Eisenhower said, there are still crates and boxes in the cellar and they have to be separated and put in storage."

Questioned about her husband's attitude during election day, she said:

"Oh he was calm. He took a couple of naps. I had about one and a half hours' sleep and I have not been jittery." Of course I had a house full of people and I had to run the house. Of course I'm buoyed up and I know that I will know it after I get home."

IKE'S GRAND GLORIOUS FEELING—Here's the way Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, President-elect of the United States gave vent to his happiness as he answered the shouting and tumult on his entrance to the Grand Ballroom of the Commodore Hotel to speak to his jubilant workers. He waves his arms and grins broadly as he comes in to read the telegram from his unsuccessful opponent, Gov. Adlai Stevenson, conceding his election. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Ike Sweeps Vote

However, Ike was getting about 57 per cent of the popular vote.

The general's friend and one of his earliest presidential rooters, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Sr., conceded defeat by his Democratic opponent, Rep. John F. Kennedy in the Massachusetts senatorial race.

In Ohio, Democratic Gov. Frank Lausche won going away from Charles Taft, brother of the senator despite Eisenhower's hefty majority over Stevenson in the state.

On the other hand, Eisenhower's surge helped Sens. Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin and William E. Jenner of Indiana get reelected. Both were prime targets for Democratic attack in the campaign.

Eisenhower demonstrated his personal popularity by sweeping all of the big and little states in the North and crashing into the South to pick off such traditionally Democratic states as Florida and Virginia. He was leading in Texas, where he had a long record.

Stevenson salvaged only Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and probably Kentucky, Louisiana and West Virginia.

Tennessee was still in doubt. Strangely enough, Eisenhower proved stronger in some other Dixie states than in South Carolina, where Gov. James F. Byrnes endorsed him, and in Louisiana, where Gov. Robert Kennon backed the GOP nominee.

Allan Shivers of Texas stood out as the only Democratic governor whose state followed him in supporting Eisenhower.

The Eisenhower victory—promising a critical new look into domestic affairs but little actual change in foreign policies—apparently was manufactured out of these ingredients: the general's personal popularity plus the pre-bling of the Democratic coalition of organized labor and the minority groups with the traditional party strength in the South.

To the extent Truman made his administration's record an issue in the campaign, the vote was one of "no confidence" in that record.

It could also be interpreted as a repudiation of the Democratic claim that Americans "never had" so good a president as Eisenhower's promise to try to build a prosperity based on peace and not, as he said, on war orders.

Eisenhower packed the Midwestern farm vote in his bag, apparently divided the labor union vote with Stevenson and swept the big states despite his inability to carry such Democratic centers as New York City, Philadelphia and Chicago.

His victory in Florida and his showing in Texas undoubtedly will be credited in part to his stand for state ownership of the potentially oil-rich submerged lands along their coasts. His sweep in California could be attributed in part to Sen. Harry P. Byrd's statement that he could not support Stevenson, because the latter had embraced "Trumanism." Byrd did not, however, endorse Eisenhower.

In Illinois, which Stevenson had carried in 1948 by the greatest majority ever given a governor there, Eisenhower won with downstate voters when the Chicago Democratic organization failed to turn out the expected big majorities for Stevenson in the metropolis.

Eisenhower's victory in his first political campaign means that to comply with his pre-election promise, he must undertake an inspection trip to Korea. The period when most presidents-elect would busy themselves with organizing their new administration.

The general said he would go to Korea to get information, with no attempt to "boss" operations there, but with the idea of trying to end the honorable way to end the 28-month-old conflict.

How soon he will undertake the trip remained to be decided by a general after conferences with his advisers.

At the same time, Eisenhower was expected to be invited by President Truman to sit in on conferences dealing

$600 Millions Worth of Toys For Christmas

NEW YORK — America's Christmas stocking should hold around 600 million dollars worth of toys at retail value this year.

This means that American fathers, grandmothers and uncles will be buying 10 per cent more toys this year.

The toy manufacturers of the U. S. A. estimate that toy prices average five per cent less than last year and the 10 per cent rise in dollar sales volume will add up to more toys around the Christmas tree.

In addition to more playthings, the young fry will find most of the old favorites in fair supply, and many others of new designs and new materials.

The steel strike—get daddy to explain that one to you, junior—may mean a shortage of a few old favorites in some stores, because most makers of metal toys had to stop taking orders awhile back.

But there'll be around 20 per cent more plastic toys in the shops this year, with a wholesale value of around 100 million dollars. The toy manufacturers' president, Norman G. Wintermantel, says that most of this gain, however, is not at the expense of other types of toys.

Miracle Cushion Holds False Teeth Tight . . .

Eases sore gums!

NOW! Eat, talk, laugh as you please. Goodbye forever to loose, rocking, wobbly, uncomfortable plates. One re-liner lasts for months; quick, easy, absolutely safe.

SNUG DENTURE CUSHIONS are a triumph of science, a sensational new plastic re-lining that ends the annoyance and irritation of loose, badly fitting false teeth. One re-lining, applied in a few minutes, makes the wobblest plates stay firmly in place—give perfect comfort. Eat corn-on-the-cob, steaks, apples—talk, laugh as you please—plates "stay put," firmly, solidly. Farewell to embarrassing falling, clicking and wobbling. Soft, easy-to-clean Snug Denture Cushions are absolutely harmless to gums or dentures.

No Sore, Irritated Gums or Danger of Infection

Sore, irritated gums are comforted at once. No more chafing of wobbly dentures. All tender areas are gently cushioned. Danger of infection from swollen, irritated gums is avoided. Comfort is so enjoyable, most folks wear their plates day and night and only remove them for cleaning.

Used Widely by Many Dentists

Snug Denture Cushions were first used by many dentists to help patients become accustomed to new plates... to comfort patients with old plates that have become loose due to tissue shrinkage. Since they were so effective, the cushions are now available to the public.

One Re-Liner Can Last Months—Easily Replaced

One Snug Denture Cushion re-liner can last for 2 to 6 months, according to the individual mouth. Stays soft and pliable—does not harden and ruin plate. Peels right out when ready to replace.

Resurfaces Loose Plates When Gums Shrink

It's not your dentist's fault that tissues and gums shrink gradually—leave spaces between the plates and the mouth. Snug Denture Cushions resurface the plate so that there are no gaps between plates and gums. Food particles cannot get underneath to cause irritation and "denture breath."

Easy, Fast, Simple—Done at Home—No Waiting

Snug Denture Cushions are thin sheets of a marvelous, scientific plastic material which dentists call acrylics. Simply place one of these wonderful re-liners on the cleaned denture (upper or lower) according to simple instructions in package, and presto! No waiting, ready to bite on anything.

Cleaned in a Jiffy Tasteless, Odorless, Safe

Plates re-lined with Snug Denture Cushions can be cleaned in a jiffy by brushing under cold water. The Cushions are tasteless, odorless and sanitary.

Why put up with the bother of adhesives that must be used every day when Snug Denture Cushions are so clean and convenient, last for months?

7 REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD TRY SNUG DENTURE CUSHIONS!

1. Helps clear up irritation and soreness of gums due to loose, ill-fitting false teeth.
2. Holds plates firm and tight—no more rocking, clicking, falling. You'd think you had your own teeth back.
3. Enables you to eat in comfort anything you desire—corn-on-the-cob, beefsteak, apples, etc.
4. Long-lasting—used 3 or 4 times a year, lasts fit perfectly for the life of your plates.
5. Easy, quick to apply and clean—easy to remove.
6. Absolutely harmless to plates, gums or teeth.
7. Our guarantee protects you. Money back if not satisfied.

Odds and Ends
By News Staff

Driving along by herself going down to Ft. Leonard, Wood to see her soldier husband, a young woman was having trouble with one of her feet—it had gone to sleep. She decided it was her higher heels that were causing her trouble so she reached in the back seat and got her low heel shoes and took off the one shoe with heels and put on the shoe without heels—then went on her way.

A little later she stopped at a filling station—got out and walked around a little and as she started to go down some steps looked down at her feet—there she had been parading all around with one shoe with heels and one without heels—and was she ever embarrassed? She was certain that the fellows at the filling station had noticed and thought she was well—a little odd—most people do wear shoes that are mates.—H.L.

Ethel Barrymore Colt Believes Name Hinders Her

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Ethel Barrymore Colt says it would have been much easier to make good if her name had been Mamie Glutz.

Ethel Barrymore's only daughter will make her New York concert debut under her own name at Town Hall this week, in "Songs of the Theater." But, by advice of her manager, she has been touring the country for more than a year with the same program, under the name of Louisa Kinlock—just to be sure the plaudits she received were for her own sake and not just for her name.

Louisa Kinlock won applause from critics. So now Ethel Barrymore-Colt is taking off her disguise and invading the country's toughest musical stronghold, New York.

At the rambling country home in Mamaroneck, N.Y., where she was born, Ethel talked of the uphill road she had traveled since her stage debut with her mother in "Scarlet Sister Mary," when she was in her early teens. This was when one critic blasted her hopes with the description—"More Colt than Barrymore"—a jibe that clung through the years. Said she: "When you have seven generations of actors behind you, people just naturally expect you to be as wonderful as your parents and grandparents the first time you appear on a stage. If you aren't, the boos are much louder than they would be for an unknown beginner."

"But an actor has to begin sometime, and the only way is to begin on a stage."

Ethel is now Mrs. John R. Miglietto, wife of a successful oil man and mother of a 6-year-old son, John Drew Miglietto.

In the years since that astrous stage debut, she has proved herself as a versatile and talented singer, actress and producer, playing dramatic roles on Broadway, summer stock, singing in grand opera, operettas, musical comedy and on the concert stage.

Her main interest for the last few years has been her singing, and she has built up a loyal following on tours throughout the country.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Mud-slinging of Other Notable Election Campaigns Recalled

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1932, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON — As the USA emerges from the hottest political campaign in 20 years some people may be rubbing their heads and wondering whether we can ever get back to an even keel and pull together as a united nation.

The answer is that, although feelings have run high, the current bitterness hasn't anywhere near approached the mud-slinging of many other notable elections. And out of all of these, with the exception of Lincoln's election, the nation emerged united and proceeded to forget the name-calling of the campaign.

Take one of the lesser elections of the past — the 1880 campaign when James A. Garfield, Republican, defeated Gen. Winfield Hancock, Democrat. Garfield got smeared for supposedly receiving a $329 dividend from the ill-fated Credit Mobilizer, was accused of stealing bedding from a southern widow and of refusing to pay a tailor's bill in Troy, N. Y.

The Democrats even forged Garfield's name on a letter proposing the immigration of Chinese to California, while Hancock, in turn, was described by the Chicago Tribune as doing nothing "but eat, drink and enjoy himself sensually."

Garfield and the Republicans won by a small margin.

"Contentious Lie" — Historic campaign of all followed four years later, by which time the Republicans had been in office 24 years. The Democrats put up Grover Cleveland in an all-out effort to recapture power. The GOP candidate, James G. Blaine, was immediately attacked as tainted by corruption and having "wallowed in spoils like a rhinoceros in an African pool."

Specifically the Democrats charged that he had accepted bribes from the Little Rock and Ft. Smith Railroad in Arkansas, and they also unearthed a letter to a business associate, Warren Fisher, which closed with "kind regards to Mrs. Fisher. Burn this letter."

From this came the Democratic campaign chant: "Burn this letter! Burn this letter! Kind regards to Mrs. Fisher. Also: 'Blaine! Blaine! James G. Blaine! The continental liar from the State of Maine!'"

The Republicans countered with the charge that Cleveland had carried on illicit relations with a 36-year-old widow, Maria Halpin, who bore him an illegitimate child. Cleveland admitted this, countered by stating that he had paid for the child's support. Whereupon the Republicans chanted:

"Ma! Ma! Where's my Pa? Gone to the White House. Ha! Ha! Ha!"

At the height of this mud-slinging which far surpassed any modern campaign, a group of clergymen called on Blaine and accused the Democrats of "Rum, Romanism and Rebellion." Blaine was immediately charged with being anti-Catholic. This tipped the scale and cost him the election.

Andrew Johnson Heckled
Nearest approach to the attitude of some people toward President Truman today was during the mid-term of Andrew Johnson, who took office after Lincoln's assassination. There again, however, the American public was far more vindictive, more intolerant and more bitter than it is today.

Touring the country during the congressional elections in 1866, Johnson was called a "traitor," "renegade," "great apostate." Unlike the children which have heckled Truman, his crowds meant business, and in Indianapolis, Johnson was driven from the platform by an angry mob yelling "We want nothing to do with traitors!" and which tore down his banners and killed several people.

Hatred of Johnson was at white heat because he, a former Democrat, proposed that southern Civil War leaders be forgiven.

Bitterness against Lincoln during his election campaign was of course worst of all. The Charleston, S. C., Mercury described him as "a horrid looking wretch. . . sooty, scoundrelly in aspect, a cross between the nutmeg dealer, the horse swapper and the night man. . . He is a lank-sided Yankee of the uncleanliest visage and of the dirtiest complexion. Fought! After him what decent white man would be president?"

Johnson's Wife
Though the Lincoln election touched off rebellion, some of the other campaigns preceding it hit well below the belt, especially that between Andrew Jackson and John Quincy Adams.

One newspaper reported that the issue was "between the people and the aristocracy." Adams represented New England and the aristocracy; Jackson the growing west and the people. The chief issue against Adams was corruption. They charged him with waste, wanton use of patronage, and even accused him of attempting "to make use of a beautiful girl to seduce the passions of Emperor Alexander and sway him to political purposes," when Adams was in Russia.

Something like the mink-coat scandal cropped up when Adams was accused of buying a billiard table and a set of ivory chessmen for the White House.

The Adams forces countered by calling Jackson an adulterer, a gambler, a cockfighter, a bigamist, a Negro trader, a drunkard, a murderer, a thief and a liar.

The mild rebukes used in the current election have been like love-taps in comparison.

One political handbook issued by the Adams forces said of Jackson: "He is wholly unqualified by education, habit, and temper for the position of president. . . His whole recommendation is animal fierceness and organic energy."

Adams leaders also threw into Jackson's face the charge that he had married his wife before she was legally divorced from her first husband. Wrote one editor: "Ought a convicted adulteress and her paramour husband be placed in the highest office of this free and christian land?"

After the election by a scant margin of 647,276 to 508,064 votes. But Mrs. Jackson died and Jackson never forgave Adams for these charges.

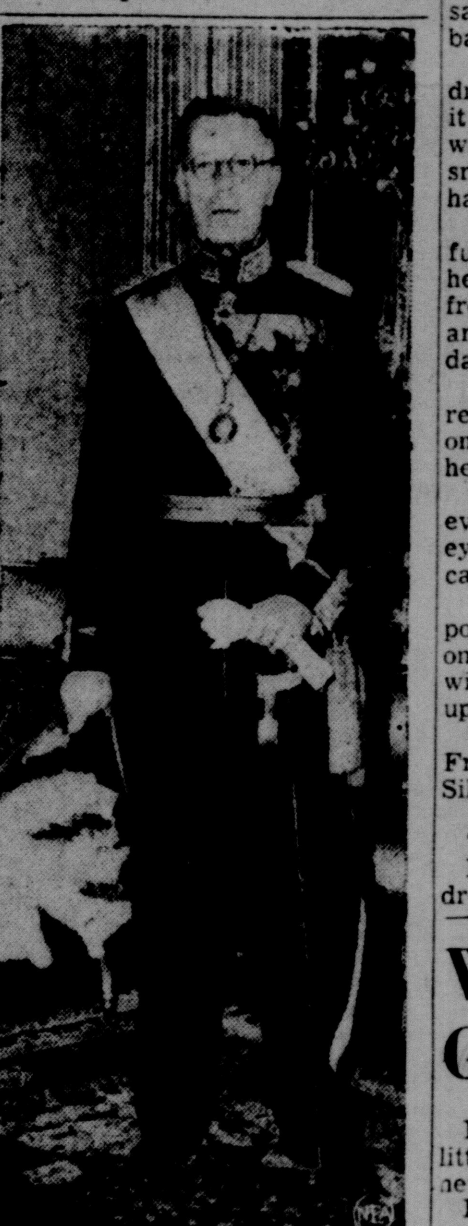

Nevertheless, the nation promptly forgot its bitterness and settled down to an era of prosperity, and it undoubtedly will after this campaign too.

Russian 'Buys' For The House

VIENNA (U)—In a small village in the Russian Zone of Austria, mid-afternoon wine drinkers' in an inn looked sour when a high Soviet officer stopped his car and walked in to relax.

Disturbed by the unfriendliness, the Russian ordered wine for all. Word quickly spread. Most of the villagers appeared. The Russian ordered more drinks as a sign of "Austro-Russian friendship." The mayor and his wife were summoned.

After two hours' merriment, the mayor left. Several days later, the mayor received a bill for "entertainment of population" from the innkeeper.

The People Speak

The World Today— Ike Wins Because He's Ike

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (U)—Gen. Eisenhower won the presidency for various reasons which can be reduced to two, one personal, the other political: He was Eisenhower; and the voters were fed up with the Truman administration.

The proof of his personal drawing power was the fact that he ran far ahead of his party. His immense popularity and the public confidence in him already established, gave him an overwhelming advantage from the start.

Stevenson, unknown outside Illinois until his nomination, had to begin his campaign from scratch. Even so, Eisenhower's great prestige might have been offset by the unknown Stevenson, merely because he was the Democratic candidate, if there had been no real issues and the voters were satisfied with the Democrats.

But Eisenhower inherited a bundle of issues which the Republicans had been harping on for months or years and which put Stevenson in an even worse spot: He was in a defensive position from the start.

Hal Boyle's Column— Ordering Scrambled Eggs In Foreign Land Gets Mess

By HAL BOYLE

ROME (U)—If you think there has been any real progress in worldwide understanding, try ordering scrambled eggs in a foreign country.

This is one problem the Marshall Plan has failed to cope with.

On our first morning of a vacation visit to Italy Frances said: "Let's give ourselves a real treat and have breakfast in bed. I'd like to have something light—some orange juice and toast and tea, and—oh, yes — some ham and a couple of scrambled eggs."

When the waiter came, I mentioned "orange-o juice, tea, toast." The waiter smiled and nodded.

"Scrambled eggs-o," I finished. A look of polite mystery came over the waiter's face.

"He doesn't understand you, Rover," said Frances helpfully. "I'll try him in French." I said: "All waiters speak French, and if I remember my freshman French the word of egg is oeuf."

I held up four fingers and said: "Oeuf, oeuf, oeuf, oeuf." The waiter looked even more puzzled.

"What grade did you get in French?" asked Frances. "Are you sure you are pronouncing it right?" "Wuff! Wuff! Wuff! Wuff!" The waiter backed away in alarm.

"Now you've frightened him," said Frances. "He thinks you're barking at him, Rover."

I got out a piece of paper and drew a picture of a hen, and held it out to the waiter. He approached warily, looked at the picture, smiled — and then clapped his hands.

I took the picture back and carefully drew four eggs under the hen, then madly began pointing from the eggs to myself, to Frances and then to the waiter. A light dawned in his eyes at last.

A few minutes later the waiter returned with a tray. He looked on proudly as Frances uncovered her dish, and waited.

"That's sunny side up. They even look like two big floating red eyes staring up at me. I simply can't eat. . . honey, could you. . . ?"

"I'll try," I said weakly. I pointed at the eggs, then stood on my head and flailed my hands wildly. The waiter grinned, picked up the tray, and left.

When he returned a second time, Frances picked the lid off the dish. Silence.

"Now what?"

"He just turned the eggs over." I took four pieces of paper and drew an egg on each. Then I tore

Waif Is New German Star

FRANKFURT, Germany (U)—A little occupation waif is Germany's newest film star.

Even before her first picture was released, 54-year-old Elsie Piaget had won millions of German fans.

Elfie is a Cinderella who was born with three strikes on her. The touching story of her life — from orphanage to movie studio — is known now to all newspaper readers in this country. Her face, brown and sweet as chocolate, graces the covers of national magazines.

Thanks to Elfie's natural charm, few German postwar films had so much advance attention as "Toxi," which features her in the title role.

Back in 1947, Elfie was given to a charity home for children in Bavaria by her young, unwed mother, who was unable to support her. The father had been a U. S. Negro soldier.

Half white and half black, half German and half American, Elfie was wholly lovable. A German refugee couple who had lost their daughter through illness after fleeing from Silesia in wartime visited the orphanage in 1949. There were many all-white children, but they picked Elfie for adoption.

Last May, Elfie's foster father noticed an advertisement inviting suitable children to try out for a screen part. Elfie was introduced to director Robert A. Stemmle, who decided she was just right for "Toxi."

Stemmle, who has directed or written 66 screen plays in a long career, taught Elfie not to notice the camera, kept her in bubbling good humor and drew out her native talent for mimicry.

It wasn't work for Elfie. She thought it was a game.

The plot of "Toxi" revolves around a forsaken mulatto child in occupied Germany, who comes to the attention of a well-to-do German family. Most of its members want to help care for her, but a snobbish son-in-law objects,

The Republicans made the most of high taxes, high prices, exposure of crookedness and flexible ethics in the Democratic administration, and the stalemated Korean war. They stimulated further doubt about the administration with their endless charges of Communists in government.

For Franklin D. Roosevelt, who had shepherded them out of a depression and successfully through most of World War II, the people developed an amazing confidence which they exhibited by electing him four times. It was as if they considered him a wise father who could lead them through darkness and danger.

They had less faith in the Democrats under President Truman, as they showed when they had their first chance to, which was in the congressional elections of 1946. Going into that election the Democrats controlled both houses of Congress. But the Republicans said: "Had enough?" The voters apparently thought they did. They elected Republican majorities in House and Senate.

the sheets of paper up and scrambled them all over in a ball and held them out hopefully.

Success: The waiter's face fairly shone. Back he soon came with the eggs properly scrambled. Ah, ah, ah! We shook hands all around.

A few minutes later Frances started chuckling.

"What's so funny?"

"Well," she said, "tomorrow I am going to order poached eggs. And I was just thinking of the expression you start trying to act like a poached egg for him. It may even bring back vaudeville."

Hopeful bunting manufacturers put their designs on display.

Britain Prepares For Coronation

Although the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II will not occur until June of next year, Britain already is deep in planning for the historic event. At left, workmen hang banners near St. Pancras Hall, in London, so that coronation officials may preview them, and select approved bunting for the event. Below, a model wears an ermine-trimmed velvet headress, using the royal cypher as a motif. At right, this ornate throne in the House of Lords, from which the queen addressed the Parliament during its opening ceremonies, is indicative of the splendor of royal appointments which will be seen during the coronation.

Cows' Production Increased

RALEIGH, N. C. (U)—The average North Carolina cow being tested under the Dairy Herd Improvement Association testing program returned 197 more profit to the owner last year than the average untested cow.

Marvin E. Senger, state college extension dairy specialist, says it isn't the testing itself that makes the difference but the use of the testing results. The average cow in the testing program produced 8,156 pounds of milk and 351 pounds of butterfat last year, Senger points out. The average cow in the state not in the program produced only

Murder she yelled

By Joseph Shalish

THE STORY: Al Kemmer, owner of High Hill Lodge, moved a murdered man's body to protect the reputation of his vacation resort. Then someone blackmailed Al, who decided to pay part of the $6500 demanded and say he can't raise the rest. However, Al and his athletic director, Dan Morrison, are prevented from doing so when they meet Sergeant Healey of the state police at the rendezvous with the blackmailer. Early the next morning Chris Witmer, odd-job man at the resort, awakens Morrison and leads him to the office where Al and Eddie Fields, an entertainer, have been attacked with an ax. Al dies at the hospital, but Eddie survives with a concussion. Eddie says a man attacked them in the office and afterwards he heard a car drive away. Dan now has returned in the lodge with Sergeant Healey.

HEALEY introduced the newcomer to me: Corporal Dillon, criminal identification expert, from the State Police squadron headquarters at Wyoming, Pa. Dillon, a dark, stocky man with professional silver-rimmed specs, immediately started setting up a tripod camera at the office door.

Healey took me out to the mail cage to get out of the way. We sat down on the counter. There was only a dim light there. It was almost peaceful, for the moment.

"Well, come on, give me something. Who was sore at these guys?"

Who was sore at these guys? It was no secret that Roslyn was sore at Al for underpaying Eddie. And Kitty Lane undoubtedly was turned up at Al's sudden interest in Midge Burnham—maybe he'd dropped Kitty a hint of what he'd told me, that he was trying to palm her off on somebody. The fact that Eddie had believed the attacker was a man didn't rule the girls out; he said he didn't see the killer. But I was inclined to rule the girls out anyway; even if they'd wanted to bash Al, why would they have slugged Eddie, too?

There was another name I couldn't rule out so easily. "G. O. Griscomb," I said.

Healey cleared his throat wearily. "Does that really make sense to you, Morrison? Now, does it? This man comes clear around from the other side of the lake with the idea of killing Kemmer—but does he bring any weapon with him? No. He just takes a chance he'll find something lying around, like an ax or something."

"He could have brought something with him and then changed his mind when he noticed the ax."

"Sure he could have. He could have drunk carboic acid and squirted it out of both ears to blind the two guys. But people don't do things that way. If a man plots out a murder with a certain weapon, he's not going to switch weapons the last minute."

"Okay, you're the expert."

"Look, don't think I never investigated a murder. I only said I never investigated one in the Poconos."

CORPORAL DILLON came out of the office and motioned Healey over. He spoke a few quiet words. "Sure," Healey said loudly. He started for the front door. "Morrison, you come with me," he blustered.

I followed him out to the front steps. Three troopers came piling over.

"This is very important," Healey said sternly. "I want it done right. I want you to go through every one of these cabins and look for any clothes with blood. Anything that's just been washed and looks suspicious, pick it up. Morrison, you have any paper bags around?"

"Right here," I stepped back inside the door.

"Okay, you'll keep each item separate, with the name on the bag. Take the cabins one by one—split up and go through every room. Do it quiet as you can—don't give anybody any more notice than necessary. Morrison'll go along so nobody'll stand on their constitutional rights."

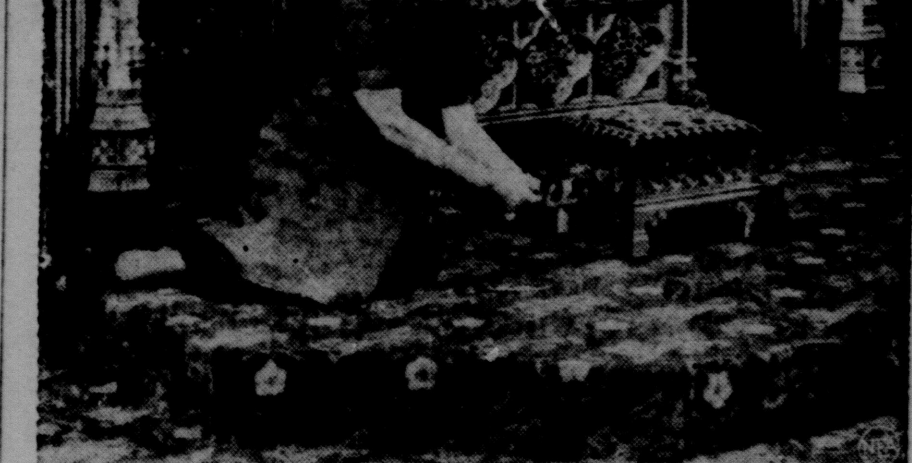

I stepped into the dark living room. Small kitchen was next. I knew. Then bedroom, bathroom. I walked forward blindly.

I moved into the kitchen and out in front of me. Off my knee got it. I reached out—a chair. I moved it. Had it been put there deliberately?

There was movement in the bedroom. Whispers. I reached for the doorknob. The light went out—the door yanked away from me—

Something blasted my jaw—I was down flat on my back. Just that fast.

Animal Health Pharmacy by A. B. Warren THE WEEVIL MEETS HIS MATCH!

Since we live in a section where weevil are a common trouble and cause a loss of one fourth of the corn that is stored IT IS BIG NEWS to have a product that will eliminate them. Especially when the storage crib is not tight.

Pyreneone Grain Protectant is the trade name of the product. It is made by the U.S. Industrial Chemicals Co. Many farm magazine are writing feature stories about its remarkable success.

This powder should be mixed thoroughly with corn. There are several methods you could use. Spread the dust at the rate of 10 pounds per hundred bushel over the corn as it is being stored. Dust on foot thick layers or dust from a burlap sack or mix in with corn on conveyor belt. It doesn't make any difference how you do it, just so it is mixed well.

How long does the dust treatment last? Tests show that it protects from picking time well into the next summer and in some cases much longer. The dust is practically harmless. You don't have to wear a mask or worry about inhaling it, and you could eat the treated corn yourself or feed it to livestock, without harm.

The cost is 25¢ per pound in bulk or 50 pounds bags. 10 pounds will treat 100 bushels and cost $2.50.

Lincoln Nips Cole Camp 5 By 7 Points

Lincoln's 1-2 punch of Jim Rank and Bill Moore more than balanced a brilliant one-man scoring show by Ackermann of Cole Camp Tuesday night to pace Lincoln to a 65-58 triumph in a PBCAA basketball contest played before a crowd of 200 in Lincoln.

Lincoln took an 11-point lead in the first quarter, saw it fade to only two at half-time, built it back up to 12 at the three-quarter pole, and coasted home.

Rank and Moore, who had 19 and 18 points each for the winners, were supported by a steady floor game and 12 points by Harvey Ticken, while Cox backed Ackermann's 30-point night with 10 for Cole Camp.

The Lincoln "B" team defeated the Cole Camp aggregation by a 31-21 score.

J. Rank and Wayne Atwood, of Lincoln paced their team with seven points each, while Brandes, Cole Camp, was the game's high point man with eight.

In the girls' volleyball game, Lincoln won by a 35-20 score. Janice Berry was high point scorer with 10 points while Hagen scored five for Cole Camp.

T&C Has Two Games Slated for Tonight At Horace Mann Gym

Town and Country Sportsmen tackle another tough assignment tonight at Horace Mann gym when they play their second basketball doubleheader of the season. At 7:30 they take on the Tipton team and when that's over they'll tangle with Ottaville.

All players for T&C are asked to be on hand at 7 o'clock.

Ike The Most Sport Minded Of Presidents

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the President-elect, is perhaps the most sports minded chief executive in our nation's history.

He was a football player at West Point, proud of the fact he once tackled the great Jim Thorpe. He took a brief fling at baseball in the Central League. Today—still at his old playing weight of 173 pounds—he shoots a bangup game of golf.

When A. B. (Happy) Chandler was dismissed as commissioner of baseball more than a year ago, Eisenhower was among those considered for the post. But his duties as NATO chief in Europe were too important.

Ike is an avid sports fan. "Football is a tremendous spectacle," he says. "Remember I saw my first game from the sidelines with Gus Dorais (Notre Dame) throwing passes to The Rock (Knute Rockne)."

He told a group of sports figures at a New York tete-a-tete recently: "Today I can go to a major league baseball game and come away a raving fanatic."

Golf is the President-elect's game today and he's threatened to go away and play ten days of golf as relaxation after the strenuous campaign.

One of his regular playing partners in recent weeks has been Cliff Roberts of Augusta, Ga., and New York, who hosts the famous Masters tournament in Georgia. "Ike hits a long ball off the tee," Roberts said. "He's a very good golfer, regularly in the 80's."

Eisenhower is more modest. He says his figure is 90 and up but acknowledged he fired a 79 two years ago at Blind Brook in Port Chester, N. Y., and recently had an 82.

Roberts was with him when he shot the 82. "He had a birdie on the par four 14th," Roberts said. "He had two good hits and sank a 12-foot putt."

Inland Port
Houston, Texas, which is 50 miles from the United States' A canal connects the city with the Gulf of Mexico, enabling ships from all parts of the world to sail in and out with cargoes.

Knobs Stop Sacred Heart By Six Points

Two thrillpacked games turned out to be heartbreakers for the Sacred Heart Gremlins Tuesday night as they dropped both the A and B games to the Knob Noster Panthers in the Sacred Heart gym.

The local club, outclassed early in the 56-50 contest, finished with a rush but failed to close the gap.

Jim Fall, the classy southpaw Gremlin captain, and Skidmore, Knob Noster's big post-man, led the scoring with 21 points.

In the B game, Sacred Heart led through the first three quarters, were tied in the fourth, and lost by a free throw in an overtime, 29-28.

Coffey of the Gremlins did a great job throughout the game. High point man on the Panther's squad was Brinkolter.

Miss Patsy Ryan was crowned Sacred Heart Activity Queen during half-time ceremonies.

Pigskin Picks Of Prognosticator

CHICAGO (AP)—Here's a vague vote from a puzzled pigskin prognosticator:
Oklahoma 28, Notre Dame 19—The nation's TV viewers will see a rootin'-tootin' affair with everybody going that-a-way in football suits.

Against two common opponents, Pittsburgh and Texas, Oklahoma amassed 98 points. The Irish got a paltry 33, but weren't charged up the way they'll be Saturday. Oklahoma, on the other hand, would like to leave some cleat marks on Notre Dame for Michigan State to pursue the following Saturday.

Purdue 21, Minnesota 13—The Boilermakers better not take their eye off the ball against the Gophers, who are still in the Big Ten running themselves. If Purdue forgets about playing Michigan the next Saturday, Dale Samuels and Max Schmaling should neatly chase the Gophers to cover.

Michigan State 28, Indiana 7—After their collapse at Pittsburgh, the Hoosiers loom only a slight pebble in the path of the roaring Spartans. Michigan State needs those first-place votes in the Associated Press poll in which Maryland is crowding Biggie Munn's mailers.

Wisconsin 20, Northwestern 14—The Wildcats forgot to lock the barn door against Ohio State, but it won't do any good to bolt it against the Badgers. Alan (The Horse) Ameche is kicking his heels again. Wisconsin also is in the Big Ten crowd chasing a Rose Bowl bid.

Illinois 19, Iowa 12—A meeting of a couple of Big Ten basement giant-killers. The Illini seem better equipped, although a let-down is natural after tumbling Michigan, Minnesota made Iowa forget about its upset of Ohio State.

Pittsburgh 21, Ohio State 14—The Panthers have claws this year as Notre Dame, Army and Indiana discovered. Pitt has the backfield speed to match Ohio State which has had two hard Saturdays against underdog foes.

Michigan 21, Cornell 0—High above Cayuga's water there seems to be little football this season.

Marquette 20, Miami of Ohio 7—The Hilltoppers gave Holy Cross a real tussle.

Artificial Breeding Pays Off
RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Through artificial insemination, a recently sold bull left behind him a record of having been bred to more than 6,000 cows over a period of 2½ years.

T. C. Blalock, extension dairy specialist at North Carolina State College, says that on the basis of a 70 per cent conception rate, 4,200 calves were fathered. The bull's first 14 daughters averaged 2,680 pounds of milk more than their dams during the first lactation.

NATO Trying For Standard Equipment

PARIS (U)—The 14 NATO nations have set out on an ambitious program of standardizing their medical equipment and training.

Looking toward the possibility of another world war, their aim is to make the military medical supplies of each nation alike. Thus, a British stretcher would fit in an American ambulance and a Turkish needle would fit on a French syringe. They don't now.

The same thing will be done in training techniques. The Danish elbow lift method of resuscitation, for example, would be taught all military medical officers, nurses and corpsmen of all 14 countries. It is rated as the best method today and has been widely adopted in the United States.

No target has been set for complete standardization. In fact, Capt. Cecil Coggins of the U. S. Navy said in an interview that it would be a gradual process taking two to three years.

The important thing is that the military medical chiefs of 11 of the 14 nations already have agreed, in principle, on the plan.

At a recent meeting at Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers in Europe here, the medical men agreed to appoint three committees to work out the details.

"Agreeing on what equipment and which techniques are the best will not be a difficult job," said Capt. Coggins, assistant to Brig. Gen. William J. Kennard, chief of SHAPE's medical section.

"There isn't a nation which hasn't some method of treatment superior to all the others," he pointed out. "The best technicians from each country will be working on these committees. They're medical men and won't let nationalistic pride interfere in their selections."

Capt. Coggins said procurement wasn't a problem, either.

"The big problem is economics. It would be economically unsound for the military medical divisions of each nation to suddenly junk their present equipment."

"That's why we will move slowly. Once the committees decide on what supplies will be standard for NATO, each country will begin buying the standard types as their present stocks need replenishing."

"Thus, no nation will suffer economically," Capt. Coggins said. "And in the long run, it is obvious it will be an eventual saving for them. We have found that in time of war, several nations are fighting side by side, there is a tremendous amount of waste because equipment can't be interchanged."

More important than the equipment is standardization of training of personnel.

"When an American soldier is wounded and is taken to a Norwegian hospital," Capt. Coggins said, "he will know that he will get the same kind of medical treatment he would get if he had been taken to an American hospital."

Damage To Run High In A Fire At Versailles

A fire of undetermined origin broke out in the rear of the John Williams furniture store in Versailles at about 12:30 p. m. Tuesday and spread next door to the Hugh Hart grocery store before it could be brought under control.

Both the city and rural fire departments answered the call. The furniture store was locked up by Williams at noon when he went home to lunch. Damage to his store and merchandise was estimated at several thousand dollars, and the grocery store was totally damaged.

Smoke from the fire billowed from the grocery store into the American Sales store and caused considerable smoke damage there.

Short River, Short Name

VERONA, Italy (U) — People around here like to brag about their record-breaking river. They claim it has the shortest name — and runs the shortest distance — of any river on earth.

It's the R River. From its origin on Mt. Baldo to where it pours into Lake Garda, it is only 525 feet long.

But it does just about everything a river is supposed to do. There's a bridge, a waterfall, good fishing, several irrigation canals, and a couple of water mills.

Californian Becomes Ill While Visiting

By Mrs. Earl Horton

LA MONTE — Mrs. Bessie Martin, Candy, Calif., became seriously ill while visiting her sister, Mrs. George Martin, and underwent major surgery at Bothwell Hospital. She was critical for a time, but has now recovered enough to be brought back to the home of Mrs. Martin. Her husband flew here from California, but returned there Saturday. She and another sister, Mrs. Wesley Horst, Adin, Calif., will remain here until she is able to travel.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McKeehan returned Thursday from a vacation trip to western Kansas and Colorado. They visited Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Kells and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Kells, Santa, Kan., Mrs. Mabel Carroll, Garden City, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Carroll of Rocky Ford, Colo. Among points of interest visited by the McKeehans were the large zoo at Garden City and the Dalton Hideout and Park at Meade, Kan.

Arthur Perkins went to Godfrey, Ill., Saturday to visit his niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Lawson and two children. Mrs. Perkins, who had been visiting there for several days, returned with him Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Keller enjoyed a turkey dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lane of Knob Noster.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Weathers and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Warren left Sunday for a vacation and hunting trip to Garden City, Kan.

Burford Twyman of Dayton, O. came Saturday and spent until Thursday at the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Steinkuhler and daughter, Paulina, had Sunday dinner at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haller, near Warrensburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Byers of Moberly were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Brown, Mrs. Byers was formerly Miss Ruth Helling of Green Ridge. Also a guest was Mrs. Minnie Hughes Johnson, Seattle, Wash., who is making an extended visit with the Browns.

Guests in the afternoon were: Mr. and Mrs. George Brown and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Edwards and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, and Mrs. Florence Ragland and two daughters, Judy and Jill, all of Sedalia; Mr. and Mrs. R. PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... tiny parasites that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. Suffering families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

NUTTY CRIME WAVE—Nick Kabousis, 63, has operated a peanut cart in New York for 15 years, and for 15 years has been the victim of petty thievery. Nick, who is blind, often hears the thieves, but has never been able to apprehend them. The camera caught the culprit, left, red-footed, and Nick is giving the thief a stern lecture on the evils of crime, even if the theft is just "peanuts."

Blackwater Man Finds Game Plentiful In South Dakota

By Mrs. M. R. Gillespie

BLACKWATER — Mrs. Anna Marshall and Mrs. F. W. Marshall went to Kingstons Thursday where they attended funeral services held for Mrs. Anna Marshall's sister-in-law, Mrs. W. S. Shouse, who died Oct. 21. Mrs. Shouse was preceded in death by her husband, Dr. W. S. (Will) Shouse. She is survived by a son, Jewett Shouse of Liberty. Dr. Shouse was born and reared near Blackburn.
